Rainbow Village is a transitional housing program for homeless families with children. Since 1991, over 200 families with over 500 children have completed the one- to two-year program.

The predominantly female heads of household, the majority of which are fleeing domestic violence, enter a covenant with Rainbow Village, committing to obtain employment and reliable transportation, attend twice-weekly life-skills classes in subjects ranging from financial and home management to parenting and nutrition, and ensure that their school-aged children attend the after-school program. Each family is assigned an individual case manager, who monitors progress and functions as an advocate with legal, educational and healthcare agencies.

In Rainbow Village's 19 years of existence, more than 90% of its "graduates" have permanently broken the cycles of homelessness, poverty and domestic violence.
